Jane Sterling and Leslie Gibbons

Jane Steling: "My sculptures and earrings are created from an internal sense of peace and balance. The feeling of the clay in my hands with the unknown discovery of what is created brings me to the present. I suppose they remind me of the silence and stillness that I sometimes need to remember. Clay is a process just like life. You never know what will come. The jewels and stones are used to bring interest and beauty."

Leslie Gibbons: "I have been creating mixed media Altars, Shrines and Mosaic mirrors for over 30 years; and have always been deeply drawn to and inspired by sacred art from around the world...specifically the shared journey of creativity and spiritual awakening found in all cultures since ancient times. I experience art-making as a form of creative prayer that is medicine for the soul of the giver and the receiver. I am passionate, grateful, and honored to share my inspiration and journey with others!"

Into the Mystic

The works of husband and wife artists Michael and Saliha Green bring the poetry of the mystical to life. Michael Green's work is featured in The Illuminated Rumi, and brings forward the timeless nature of spirit as form. More than two and a half million copies of Michaels books including The Hobbit's Journal, Welcome to the Planet Earth, Zen and the Art of the Macintosh, Unicornis, The Dragontooth, The Illuminated Prayer, and One Song are in print. Michael's wife Saliha creates beautiful works that embody the richness of the Divine Feminine. Her work has been featured in numerous fine art calendars featuring the poetry of Hafiz, translated by poet Daniel Ladinsky. Together, their works draw the viewer into a deeper place in the heart.

Nimbus

LINDA LAMORE "Endless Possibilities"

Nimbus will be featuring the abstract paintings of Linda Lamore for the month of September. Please join us September 4th, for Ashland's First Friday artwalk from 5-8 p.m. to meet the artist and enjoy an evening out on the town with other art lovers.

"There are many dimensions to art; it can inspire, anger, thrill, or calm the soul. Hopefully it communicates something, whether it is on an emotional level or on an intellectual level. With my paintings I hope to elicit a positive emotional response that transports you to another place. This group of paintings represents an assortment of my styles within the refracted series. Represented here are multi-media pieces, abstracted scenic pieces and nonobjective abstract pieces."
